

<http://groups.yahoo.com/group/gpsstash/message/405>

From: "Mike Teague" <yngwie@t...>
Date: Wed Sep 6, 2000 3:59 pm
Subject: Re: [gpsstash] You should get a mirror site...

jeremy irish, owner of geocaching.com is in the process of taking over what my site has done up to this point... it will have more functionality than I could ever build into mine.. hopefully it will make the whole game more enjoyable..

I dont really have time to keep a site up-to-date anymore, but I will remain involved in the game...after all, my site was originally intended only to be a _temporary_ home for the gps stash community...

in the mean time, while jeremy gets geocaching.com all up to speed and operational, my site will remain up, (if my damned ISP ever gets around to fixing the server) and I will continue to maintain the master list for Matt Stum's distance calculator at <http://www.42nd-dimension.com/gps/caches.asp>

I will probably discontinue the state-by-state listings for the caches on my page though..

Mike Teague - <http://www.triax.com/yngwie>